PECKHAM VARIETIES

NEW PECKHAM VARIETIES

AT ST LUKES CENTRE

'New' Peckham Varieties have now left Peckham Settlement and established themselves as a seperate body under a new management group, who have been meeting regularly since January.

We have been lucky enough to obtain use of the hall at St Lukes Centre, Farrborough Way SE15 - on the corner of Southampton Way and Commercial Way-- five days and five evenings a week with an option on Saturdays. This means that from September we will be able to run a fuller programme of arts activities and may be able to offer space to arts groups wishing to rehearse, set up workshops, perform, and arrange meetings or exhibitions. The hall, which is of medium size(about 30'x 50') has recently been soundproofed and so is suitable for use by bands and music groups as weel as for dance, drama etc. Preparation work is now being done on the hall and we would like to have a full programme of work set up to go forward in September.

We are interested in hearing from local groups and individuals who would like to set up new arts activities or take part in existing workshops.

This is the first time that this part of the borough has had a small centre devoted solely to arts activities.

If you are interested in the arts, come along and help us plan to make Peckham Varieties a really lively place - bring you ideas and meet other members.
